FROM THE DESK OF THE VICE-CHANCELLOR

Central Agricultural University, Imphal arms agriculture by not only providing quality education but also serving the other end of the spectrum by providing latest knowledge and tools to farmers to safeguard continuous development of agricultural practices. We are proud that all our members adapt swiftly to the changing roles to cover our vast involvement in the field of agriculture.

Recognitions by many government and non government organisations for our works are flowing in. Performance of our students and alumni in academia as well as other co-curricular activities like the 'National Youth Parliament' and appreciation and encouragement received from the farmers is redemption of our hard work. I, once again like to thank all the faculties and staff for the hard works with dedication as well as the well wishers of the University for your Support to uplift the University to a greater height.
