ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The workshop aims at providing opportunities in research areas and research methodology for young researchers and faculties in social sciences. It intends to cover the recent research methodologies, analytical techniques, use of statistical software, etc. with special reference to use of R. In addition to this, it intends to create ideas among PG and Ph.D. students related to suitable and potential research areas. It will also provide hands on recent research techniques and statistical software which will enable the young researchers while facing the challenges encountered in their research programs. This workshop will be beneficial to the faculties, PG, and Ph.D. students for updating their knowledge in social science research.
